Applicant's election with traverse of species I, Figs. 1-5, claims 1-7, 10-14, 17-20, in the reply filed on 5/17/05 has been acknowledged. Claims 8, 9, 15, 16 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

The drawings were received on 10/5/05. These drawings are acceptable.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1, 7, 12-14, 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lantsman (US-6027068) in view of Rieth (US-3614016).

Lantsman disclose an apparatus having substantially all the claimed features including a spool 34 in a housing for dispensing through an exit orifice provided by guides 30/32, means including element 28 for advancing the strand, and tubular guide member 32, or 32A, or 32B. Lantsman does not disclose a removable pin and associated recesses to prevent the spool from rotating. Rieth discloses a stop pin 25 for releasable engagement with holes 12 to lock the spool from rotation. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to provide the apparatus of Lantsman with a stop pin and holes as taught by Rieth to lock the spool. Adhesive substrate such as adhesive tape are well known for holding an object stationary/in-place; therefore the use of an adhesive substrate over the stop pin to hold the pin stationary/in-place would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art.

The method steps of claim 19 are deemed obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the combination above; the tensioning step would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to prevent tangling when assembling the cassette.

Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The prior art of record does not show or render obvious an apparatus as recited in claim 11.

Claims 17 and 18 are allowed for the same reason as for claim 11.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection necessitated by the changes to claims 1 and 19.

In response to applicant's argument that Rieth is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, it is deemed that Rieth is reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, i.e. to positively prevent the spool from rotating. Rieth was applied to show that the insertion of a removable pin into recesses in the support and spool to positively prevent the spool from rotating is old and well known.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

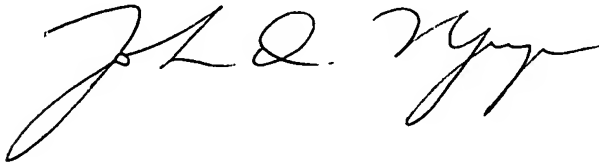

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
